More Stafa = more efficiency

Stafa supplies end users with complete kits, including assembly kits, with fasteners, specials, metal parts and components from other industries. Inhouse assembly means you can benefit even more from our expertise. Highly accurate measuring and weighing systems are linked to our fully- and semi-automatic packaging machines. This enables us to guarantee that each set includes all the components that need to be in it.

One-stop-shop

At Stafa, you purchase a set that includes the components, under a single article number. This avoids unnecessary overhead and prevents higher processing costs. Which, in turn, gives transparency in the cost price of the end product. Stafa provides a wide variety of packaging solutions and logistical services, taking care of every aspect for you. We're a one-stop shop, with endless possibilities.

Optimise your supply chain

By outsourcing packaging/kitting, you create added value for your product. You have more time to focus on your core business. You also benefit from our process optimisation, which can provide considerable savings, both financially and from an operations perspective. The result: an optimised supply chain with fewer suppliers; a lower Total Cost of Ownership; better availability; and less demand on your capital.

Stafa provides customised assembly kits for well-established businesses in various sectors:

1. Wholesale & purchasing organisations
2. Construction and infrastructure
3. Transport
4. Energy and chemical industry
5. Wood (processing) industry
6. Installation and electrical sector
7. Machinery and equipment
